

ATTILA the Hun invaded Italy
but retired without attacking
Rome.

Attila & the Huns crossed the Alps, invaded into Italy. The great city of AQUILEIA, at the head of the Adriatic, was wiped off the face of the earth.
Major towns of the Po valley fell to the invaders - MILAN, VERONA, PADOA.

Pope Leo I met Attila in northern Italy.

Attila decided to withdraw from Italy.

Abila invaded northern Italy.

452

Huns destroy AQVILEIA
Venice was founded.

Attila switched his attack from Gaul to Italy but was prevented from ravaging Rome by an outbreak of plague and famine.

452

1912 Dates J-BK

Western Empire.

ORIGIN of Venice

Demotic writing, modified Egyptian hieroglyphic script developed in 5th Cen. BC. made writing possible for greater number of users.
Used up to 452.

452

City of Venice founded

Jan 1, 452

Julian Day

$$(6664 - 1500) \times 365.25 = 1886151$$

which is true

452 AD

Attila (the Hun) invaded Italy

452

ATTILA

Attila attacked Italy but was turned back by an epidemic

Attila invades Italy but is persuaded by Pope Leo the Great to spare Rome and retire.

452

Pope Leo I (440-461) traveled to Mantua to meet Attila the Hun and dissuaded him from attacking Rome

452

City of Venice is founded

Attila turned upon Rome; but Pope Leo journeyed to the camp, and by his intercession turned the Hun from his prey. There may have been other causes to assist Leo. One ancient writer hints that Attila's army was wasting under Italian fever; and no doubt it was harassed by the forces of Alaric hanging upon its rear.

At all events, Attila withdrew from Italy and died shortly after. Then his empire fell

452

Pope St. Leo the Great persuaded Attila the Hun to spare Rome.